

One day Workshop - Saturday 28th August 2021, 9am - 4.30pm

Working Therapeutically with Children with Lesley Wilson and Tracy Flux venue: The Shekinah Centre in Newchurch, Pendle.

AIMS:

- To provide an experiential opportunity for all participants to explore working creatively within a therapeutic/helping relationship.
- To build upon previous learning providing the opportunity for all participants to use play to encourage self-exploration and reflection.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

- All participants will gain some insight into themselves and how they can adapt these tools for professional practice.
- All participants will have an understanding of the various mediums of creative communication.
- The participating members will leave with a number of skills which can be used to enhance professional practice.

Lesley Wilson MSc is a BACP & NCA Accredited Counsellor; Qualified Supervisor and Associate Lecturer with over 20 years of experience in the field of psychological therapies. She has experience of working therapeutically with children and training various professionals to use play within their work. The central philosophy to all her work stems from the humanistic modalities where: the relationship and the communications therein are fundamental to the therapeutic work.

Tracy Flux, BACP Accredited Counsellor, Qualified Supervisor with 13 years of experience working in education with young people. Qualified in Animal Assisted Therapy. Founder member with Leeds Beckett Uni, BACP for delivering supervision in education and alliance with supervision in the Northwest. My specialism is working therapeutically with young people in education. I am integrative within my approach which is a central part to engage in play therapy with young people as this is their first language.
